

The Menstrual Cup Coalition supports the safe use of affordable menstrual cups globally, by sharing knowledge and good practice.

A 'coalition' is an alliance of people and organisations with a shared interest. The Menstrual Cup Coalition connects people and organisations to share experience and knowledge. By combining our strengths and working together we can expand the impact and improve the quality of our work.

What the Menstrual Cup Coalition will do:

1. Encourage members to work together on menstrual cup interventions.
2. Encourage members to influence the policies, decisions and actions of stakeholders such as governments, faith leaders and NGOs to support, fund or authorise menstrual cup interventions.
3. Hold an annual Menstrual Cup Coalition Summit.
4. After each Menstrual Cup Summit, produce an annual report.

What the Menstrual Cup Coalition will not do:

1. Answer questions from individuals or organisations – anyone can go to members' and other relevant websites for information.
2. Hold or run activities or projects.
3. Raise funds for particular projects.
4. Endorse specific menstrual cup products or projects. (Opinions will remain those of members, not the coalition.)
5. Monitor the activities of members.

Members of The Menstrual Cup Coalition will:

1. Be committed to the promotion of informed choice and the responsible and safe use of menstrual cups in an ethical manner.
2. Agree to share information, including:
 - a. Training curricula and materials (diagrams, written narratives, visual aids etc)
 - b. Information for cup recipients (e.g. leaflets or booklets)
 - c. Research ideas; data collection methods; questionnaires and protocols
 - d. Frameworks for workshops and focus groups

- e. Successes and challenges experienced in research, programmes, education and marketing.
- f. Contacts and funding opportunities
- g. Events and conferences relevant to cups
3. Communicate via their own emails. Anyone, member or not, can contact members for information via their websites or links or email addresses.
4. Advise each other on ongoing and future relevant activities.
5. Listen to cup users' experiences and comments.
6. Identify research priorities and collaborate on joint research projects.
7. Develop and share monitoring and evaluation indicators.
8. Engage with and inform relevant sectors, stakeholders, and government departments about menstrual cups.
9. Ask permission before sharing any confidential information or contacts.
10. Not bring the Menstrual Cup Coalition into disrepute or use the name for material gain (e.g. endorsements of commercial products.)

Membership of The Menstrual Cup Coalition

Any organization may join if they work in menstrual health, and already or potentially in menstrual cup interventions, research, manufacturing, education, communication, distribution, design, advocacy, campaigning, projects, programmes or other work relevant to menstrual cups and menstrual cup interventions. A working group will assess potential members.

1. Members may use the logo of the Menstrual Cup Coalition on their emails.
2. There will be no set fee for The Menstrual Cup Coalition but members will be invited to pay a voluntary donation towards basic administration (e.g. website, electronic map and administration).
3. A working group will be elected at each Summit, and new members co-opted when appropriate. The working group will:
 - observe relevant data protection protocols.
 - hold a designated bank account to hold donations and pay for administration. One member will keep and distribute regular accounts.
 - coordinate guidance to implement best practice menstrual cup projects.

Agreed by members at the Menstrual Cup Coalition Summit, Nairobi, January 2019.
